

this may have reached the destination late, but i felt like it was worth a shot. i feel XM radio has changed the way America listens to radio. giving us so many more options to choose from. i still like to listen to local broadcastings. however, i like having an option to listen to other things when local stations are playing/ saying the same stuff over, and over, and over again.

leave XM radio alone. improve the current local stations. don't take away something that many people are willing to pay for.
